

Brenntag Food & Nutrition CVs and quotes

Tom Corcoran – Vice President Food & Nutrition Brenntag Group

Tom Corcoran, Vice President Food & Nutrition Brenntag Group, joined the company in 2003. Within Brenntag, he held various senior positions in the field of Strategic Sourcing and Business Development on both regional and global levels. Before joining Brenntag, Tom Corcoran had a career of almost 20 years in various sales, marketing and management roles in the US chemical industry. Tom Corcoran lives in the United States and is based at the Brenntag Group headquarters in Essen, Germany.

Tom Corcoran:

“Brenntag Food & Nutrition is the perfect combination of specialized support for the food and nutrition market, distribution capabilities and the Brenntag legacy – this is true value. We want our partners to sense that difference; to sense the difference we can make to their product and their business. Our biggest asset, however, is our team, who share a common passion for food and nutrition. We aspire to be a living network, sharing best practices, knowledge and insights, and ultimately turning trends into marketable products for our partners.”

Frank Haven – Vice President Food & Nutrition Brenntag EMEA

Frank Haven joined Brenntag in 1999 and made his career in the Specialties and Life Science segments of Brenntag, first in the Netherlands, then on a European level. Before he took over his new role as Vice President Food & Nutrition Brenntag EMEA, Frank Haven was responsible for the company’s Life Science division, also as a Vice President. Frank Haven is based at the Brenntag global headquarters in Essen, Germany.

Frank Haven:

“Today, the EMEA region is already a stronghold of Brenntag Food & Nutrition. Under the new joint brand, we will establish an even closer connection between all of our EMEA technical experts and commercial staff. With this, we help our partners succeed in this highly competitive region. One should never forget that trends in the food industry are determined locally while being influenced globally. Brenntag Food & Nutrition is in the unique position of connecting our knowledge of global trends with local taste preferences.”

Margaret Chua – Vice President Food & Nutrition Brenntag Asia Pacific

Margaret Chua, Vice President Food & Nutrition Brenntag Asia Pacific, joined the company in 2010 as part of the acquisition of EAC Industrial Ingredients and has since headed and grown the food business in the Asia Pacific region as Regional Industry Manager for Food & Beverage. She looks back on a long career with several renowned companies in the food ingredients industry. Margaret Chua is based in the Brenntag Asia Pacific headquarters in Singapore.

Margaret Chua:

“Asia Pacific already makes a strong contribution to Brenntag Food & Nutrition today. Across ten Food Application & Development Centers in the region, our laboratory technicians are dedicated to formulating innovative and great-tasting prototypes, ready for evaluation by our customers. This capability and expertise enables customers to minimize the time and money they spend on research and development. But Brenntag Food & Nutrition not only develops a wide range of class-leading food technologies and applications, we are also very proud of our robust and reliable supply chain.”

Larry Davis – Vice President Food & Nutrition Brenntag North America

Larry Davis, Vice President Food & Nutrition Brenntag North America, started his career at Brenntag North America in 2017 as Director of Marketing Food & Nutrition. Before then, he held managing positions in the commercial, marketing, and sales areas of leading companies in the US specialty and ingredients industry. Larry Davis is based in the Brenntag North America headquarters in Reading, PA, USA.

Larry Davis:

“We recently opened our North America Food Application & Development Center in Allentown in September 2018. Under the new joint Brenntag Food & Nutrition brand, we want to continue building our formulation expertise and our ingredient portfolio with products that address current and future market trends. Our continued collaboration with sales, management and technical personnel in other regions can propel our growth forward at a rapid pace. One of our biggest ambitions is for our customers to see us as market experts – a valued resource to help with new product development and any formulation issues they may experience. With Brenntag Food & Nutrition, we can now better live up to this ambition.”

Tomás Navarro – Vice President Food & Nutrition Brenntag Latin America

Tomás Navarro, Vice President Food & Nutrition Brenntag Latin America, made his career in the specialty chemicals and ingredients industry in Latin America, where he held roles in the financial, commercial, marketing, and engineering areas. He joined Brenntag in 2012 as Business Director Specialties North Latin America. He is based in Bogota, Colombia.

Tomás Navarro:

“With rising per-capita-income levels in most Latin American countries, the demand for high-quality, healthy food is increasing. Thanks to local experts in 16 different Latin American countries, Brenntag Food & Nutrition has an excellent understanding of the different local preferences and each respective country’s rules and regulations. With this new brand and business set-up, we draw upon the power of Brenntag’s global infrastructure, logistics expertise and facilities while further enhancing our local food application capabilities. All of these factors will make Brenntag Food & Nutrition a real force in the Latin America region.”